Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-8, drawn to a heat insulated wall, classified in class 52, subclass 407.3.
 - II. Claims 9-26, drawn to a radiant heat insulation blanket, classified in class 428, subclass 69.
 - III. Claims 27-29, drawn to a method of insulating a wall, classified in class 52, subclass 745.09.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I and II are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention II has separate utility such as insulation for a pipe or the like. The radiant heat insulation blanket could be used to insulate pipes. Further, the insulated wall could be insulated without the insulation blanket. The spaces defined in the wall could be filled with air, which would also insulate the wall. See MPEP § 806.05(d).
3. Inventions II and III are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product. For example, the wall could be insulated using fiberglass insulation or air. Both of which are materially different products.

4. Inventions I and III are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the product as claimed, i.e. the wall, can be made by another and materially different process. For example, the wall structure could be made in pre-manufactured sections with insulation located in the section prior to arriving at the desired location. Then, the sections could be assembled to form a complete wall structure.

5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

6. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I is not required for Groups II and III, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
